

I'm Jim Wright, the founder of The Wright Way to play Golf and teach out of the Golfer's Grail in Tampa, FL. I am a Certified PGA Class A Member in Instruction, and have been associated with the PGA for more than 25 years. I am certified through the PGA of America in Instruction, with more than 20,000 lessons provided over my career. I can help you improve your score and ball striking if you are a low, mid or high handicap golfer. I tailor each lesson to your individual skills. With more than 40 years of experience, I specialize in helping relieve your frustrations with the game of golf. All beginners are welcome to learn this great game. I am not a method teacher, I teach everyone individually, everyone is different. If you have been playing golf for a long time, I can't change your entire swing and don't want to, I just want to tweak it a bit and have you play better.

I am retired from the US Air Force and was fortunate enough to hold the teaching contract at the bases where I was stationed. I won many military tournaments, including the Okinawa Military Championship in 1974. In addition, I have won a wide variety of other championships, such as Air Force base championships, as well as the northern California Military Championship. In 1981, I played the PGA Tour with the Monday qualifiers before going back into the Air Force to finish my career. In 2013, I won the 2013 West Central PGA Chapter Senior Championship and earned the 2013 West Central PGA Chapter Senior Player of the Year. I also qualified second in the 2013 NFPGA Section Senior National Professional Championship with rounds of 70-67. As a PGA member, I have performed turn-around operations on underperforming golf properties and opened new golf courses.

I have a great passion for teaching the game of golf. I can make anyone better from beginners to tour players.

I am a graduate of the University of Central Florida with a BSBA with a Major in Marketing, but teaching golf to all levels of players from beginners to mid-handicap to tour players is my true passion. Let me show you how to excel at playing golf.
